Headteacher's Newsletter – 3rd March

We are looking forward to welcoming all children back to their classes with their classteachers and class teaching assistants from Monday.

Google Classroom

We have been using Google Classroom for our teaching, but it is here to stay (at the moment) for lots of things – weekly parent information, parent teacher meetings plus teaching and learning activities in case you/your family or a class bubble need to isolate.

You can access your child's classroom via google on the internet or an app on a smart phone or tablet. If you need help with this please email your child's classteacher or call the office for some help.

Rest of this week

FOR THOSE AT HOME - There are no more remote teaching sessions this week but there are suggested activities on the Google Classroom for tomorrow (Thursday).

FOR THOSE IN SCHOOL - Tomorrow is World Book Day but with so few in school, and 2 x PE sessions, we will not be dressing up and please remember no school on Friday.

FOR ALL – Please look on your child's Google Classroom. Teachers will give suggestions for lots of World Book Day themed activities. There will also be a competition. Following the Masked Singer TV show, try to guess the story (traditional tale) and the reader by listening to the masked reader and looking at the clues.

Lots of the activities are not paper based but if you would like copies of anything that is paper based please let your child's classteacher know or call the office.

Friends of St Paul's – Annual General Meeting

Our postponed meeting is being held tomorrow (Thursday 4th March) via Zoom
